HOW TO INCLUDE PLYMOUTH COMMUNITY UNITED WAY IN YOUR WILL OR ESTATE PLAN

It is easy to include Plymouth Community United Way in your will or estate plans. Here are 6 of the most popular ways to do this. We would welcome the opportunity to send you additional information or meet with you to take the next steps. As always, we recommend that you consult your financial planner.

1. Name PCUW as a beneficiary in your will.

A bequest provision can be included in your will when you are creating it, or you can amend your existing will through the use of a codicil.

This arrangement provides you with flexibility and control should your circumstances change. You can designate an exact amount or asset or a percentage of the assets in your will.

2. Make an outright gift of cash or appreciated stock or real estate.

This is an excellent technique for individuals in the highest tax bracket...or those who have sold a business or received a significant bonus and could benefit from an immediate tax deduction.

GIVING STOCK VS. CASH
	Gift in Stock	Gift in Cash
Size of your gift:	$200,000	$200,000
Income tax savings	$70,000	$70,000
Capital gains tax savings:	$22,500	None
Net cost of your gift:	$107,500	$130,000

For example, Mary and Bob Smith are both highly paid professionals and received large bonuses this year.

Unfortunately, a significant portion of this year's bonus will be eaten away by taxes. Mary and Bob also have a stock portfolio of highly appreciated stock. They decide to contribute stock they purchased many years ago for $50,000 that is now worth $200,000. Because this stock is being transferred to PCUW, they will not have to pay capital gains tax. PCUW will be benefit and Mary and Bob will receive a significant income tax deduction.

3. Name PCUW as the beneficiary of a retirement plan.

Perpetuating your gift through a retirement plan is simple, flexible and tax wise. Contact the administrator of your retirement plan to designate PCUW as the beneficiary of your retirement plan. They can also let you know what restrictions might apply.

The benefits of naming PCUW as the beneficiary of a retirement account include:

- Avoiding potential double taxation on retirement funds gift to heirs (estate tax and income tax).
- Allowing you to continue to draw money out of your retirement account while you are living.
- Providing you with the freedom to change your mind if your situation changes.
- Giving you the satisfaction of knowing that your hard-earned retirement funds will continue to impact people's lives in our community.

4. Name PCUW as the beneficiary of an existing or new life insurance policy.

Many contributors are attracted to life insurance because it enables them to make a larger gift than they would otherwise have been able to make. Here's how it works: you pay the premiums on a life insurance policy—that will ultimately produce a sizeable gift to PCUW. If PCUW is named as the owner and beneficiary, you will also receive a tax deduction for the annual premiums.

5. Benefit from a split interest gift.

A split interest gift is really two gifts, one that is present interest and one that is future interest. Typically, the present interest gift is a lifetime flow of income back to the donor. The future interest gift is the amount the charity will receive at the death of the donor. The most popular split interest gift is a charitable remainder trust. It is a gift that returns an income to you, your spouse or another beneficiary you name. Highly appreciated but low yield stock is an ideal asset to use in a charitable remainder trust.

Another split interest gift is a retained life estate. This is a way to give away the future interest in your home while you are living. Perhaps you own a home or vacation home that your children have no interest in inheriting. You can create an irrevocable provision to retain the use of your home during your lifetime...and give the remainder interest to PCUW at your death. You receive a current income tax deduction for the remainder interest and remove the home from your taxable estate.

6. Make a gift through a Charitable Gift Annuity and receive payments for life.

If you would like to benefit from interest that is higher than you can obtain from CDs and money market accounts, a CGA is an excellent gift option, especially if you are over 60 years old. You would receive annuity payments for life and the remainder of the gift would benefit our community through PCUW. The projected amount of the gift that would go to PCUW is tax deductible.
